Company Overview

A More Disciplined Approach To Supply

The challenge facing buyers today is rarely access to product.

The challenge is securing consistent supply in markets influenced by changing freight costs, currency movements, regional demand, seasonal consumption patterns and shifting production conditions.

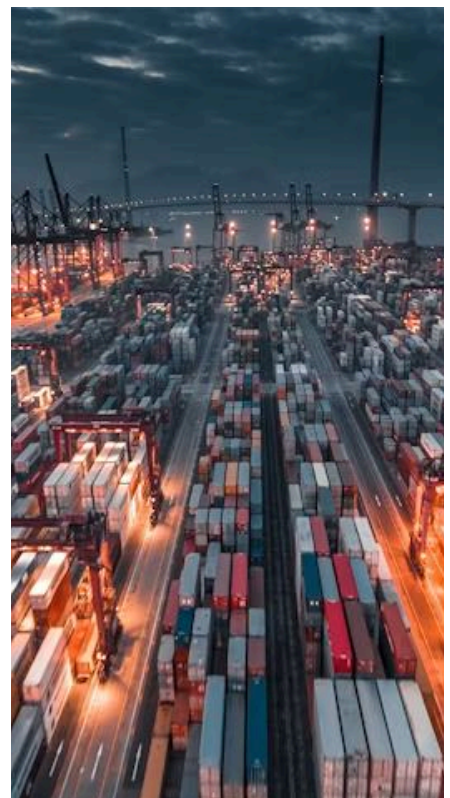

Vanta Food Group was established to help buyers navigate those complexities through structured sourcing and supply management.

We support importers, wholesalers, distributors, retailers and food service operators by managing critical stages of the supply process, from supplier selection through to shipment coordination and delivery planning.

Our approach combines market awareness, supplier oversight and long-term relationship management to support continuity of supply and consistent product standards.

We develop supply programmes built around resilience, flexibility and commercial practicality.

The result is a supply chain designed not only to meet immediate requirements, but to perform reliably over time.

Supply Programme Management

Every supply programme is built around four critical variables.

Availability

Assessment of livestock supply, production capacity, seasonal cycles and origin market conditions.

Supply planning begins with understanding where product will come from six months from now, not simply where it can be purchased today.

Quality

Verification of specifications, processing standards, documentation requirements and operational consistency.

Every shipment reflects on both supplier and buyer.

Pricing

Monitoring of market conditions, currency movements, livestock trends, feed costs and international freight developments.

Our objective is not simply to find product. It is to secure competitive landed cost while maintaining consistency and reliability.

Delivery

Route planning, cold-chain management and shipment coordination are structured around the realities of international food logistics.

Reliable execution requires visibility across the entire journey, from source to destination.

International Supply Network

Built Around Supply Flexibility

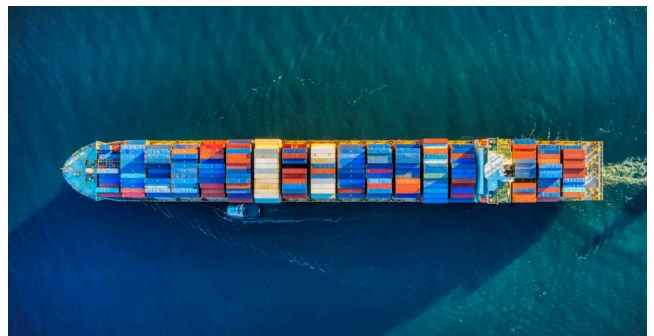

The strongest supply chains are not dependent upon a single source.

Vanta Food Group maintains relationships across selected production regions and supply corridors to support continuity, reliability and commercial resilience.

This approach enables us to compare:

- ✓ Product availability
- ✓ Processing capacity
- ✓ Freight conditions
- ✓ Seasonal demand patterns
- ✓ Transit times
- ✓ Landed costs

By maintaining visibility across multiple origins, we can adapt supply programmes as market conditions evolve.

Landed Cost Matters

The lowest purchase price rarely determines the most competitive shipment.

Every sourcing decision is evaluated against:

- ✓ Product cost
- ✓ Freight cost
- ✓ Transit time
- ✓ Import requirements
- ✓ Documentation obligations
- ✓ Route stability

The objective is always the same:

To deliver dependable product at competitive landed cost.

Quality & Standards

Confidence Through Verification

Consistency does not occur by chance.

It is achieved through structured procedures, clear standards and disciplined execution throughout the supply chain.

- ✓ Supplier Qualification
Careful assessment of approved production and processing partners.
- ✓ Processing Verification
Review of operational procedures, product handling practices and production standards.
- ✓ Specification Control
Verification of agreed product requirements prior to shipment.
- ✓ Documentation Review
Support for veterinary certification, export documentation and destination market requirements.
- ✓ Traceability
Structured procedures designed to support transparency from source through delivery.
- ✓ Supplier Performance Monitoring
Ongoing evaluation of consistency, reliability and operational performance.

Halal Integrity, From Farm To Destination

Halal is the foundation of what we supply, not a label added at the end of the chain. Every programme is built around it.

Certified at source

We buy only from processors whose product is halal certified at origin.

Segregation through the cold chain

Halal product kept separate in storage and transport.

Certificates for each destination

Halal and veterinary documentation prepared to the requirements of the importing country.

Traceability

Every consignment traceable from origin to final delivery.

Every programme is supported by processes designed to minimise risk and support long-term commercial relationships.

Market Intelligence & Planning

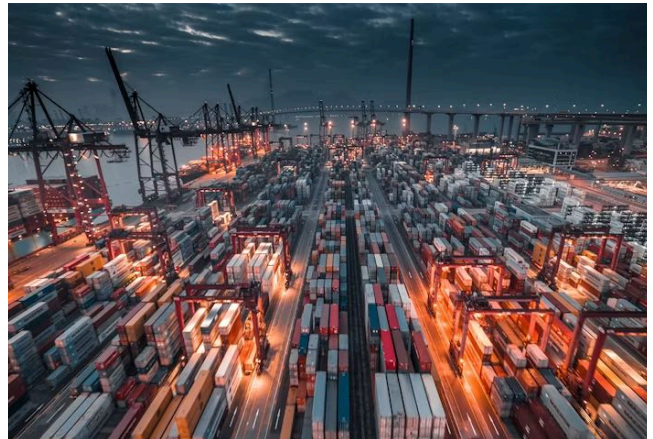

Meat Is A Commodity. We Manage It As One.

The international meat trade is influenced by a wide range of factors.

Changes in livestock availability, feed costs, freight markets, exchange rates and seasonal demand can all affect pricing and supply conditions.

Successful procurement requires visibility beyond today's price.

It requires an understanding of where markets are moving.

Planning Horizons

Next Month

Confirmed production, shipment schedules and documentation.

Two Months

Pricing windows, freight availability and supply allocation.

Six Months

Production cycles, seasonal demand and procurement planning.

Twelve Months

Long-term supply programmes, diversification strategies and commercial planning.

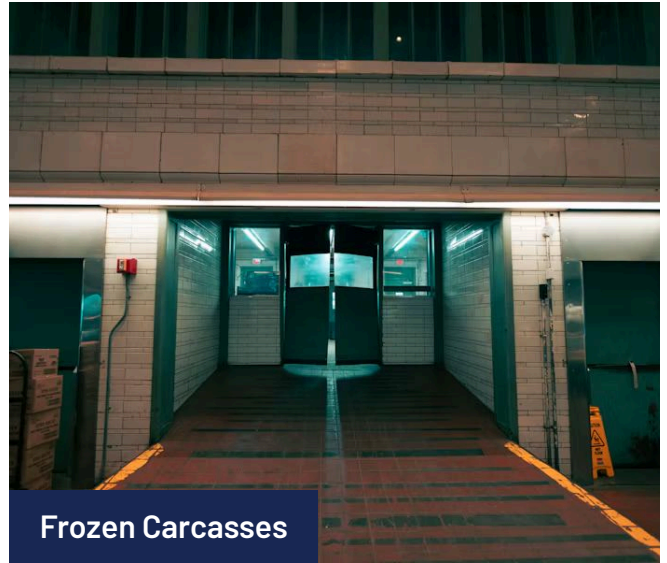

By monitoring market developments continuously, we help buyers make procurement decisions with greater confidence.

Products

Premium Halal Lamb

Carefully sourced lamb products selected to meet the requirements of professional buyers.

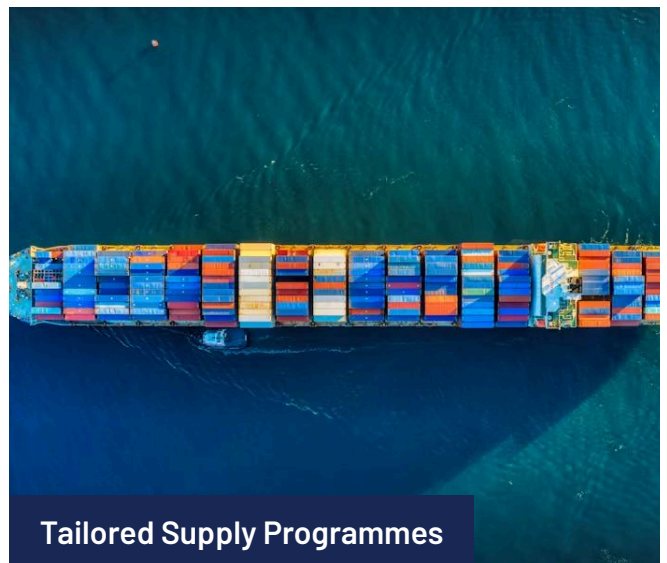

Frozen Carcasses

Processed to agreed specifications and supplied through controlled cold-chain logistics.

Chilled Products

Supply programmes structured around shorter transit corridors and time-sensitive delivery requirements.

Tailored Supply Programmes

Long-term sourcing arrangements developed around customer-specific requirements.

Product specifications are structured according to individual market requirements and customer objectives.

Building Long-Term Supply Relationships

The strongest commercial relationships are built on consistency, trust and execution over time.

At Vanta Food Group, we believe successful supply chains are created through disciplined sourcing, careful supplier management and a commitment to professional standards.

Our role is simple:

To help buyers secure dependable access to product through carefully managed supply programmes designed around quality, continuity and commercial practicality.

As markets evolve, our focus remains unchanged.

Trusted Supply. Proven Standards.
